DEDICATION

We, the Seniors of 1948, dedicate this annual to Richman Field and to Mr. Kohn of Richman Brothers and the Board of Education, who made it possible for us to have this fine athletic field.

Although we will never be representing Lodi High School on this field again, we will always look towards it as being a place for good recreation. We know that good sportsmanship will always prevail on this field and that it will be the home of some of the finest football and baseball teams in the future.

Class History

On a bright September day in 1936, twenty-six frightened children climbed up the hill to L. H. S. to enter the first grade. Miss DeLong greeted us on this morning and we all enjoyed being in the first grade with her. Of these twenty-six, Virginia Clouse, Eloise House, Delores Horner, Alan Krantz, Don Houston, Boyd Lance, Bill Manke, Robert Strouse, Dean Hopkins, Robert Vandemark, and Jack Warner are the originals who have been with the class for the past twelve years.

Mrs. Whitney was our teacher in the second grade and Furman Bowers joined the class.

Miss Vanasdal was our teacher in the third grade and Miss Clinker taught us in the fourth grade. Betty Berry joined the class during the fourth year.

The next year we really "ruled the roost" because we had moved upstairs to the fifth grade. Miss Edwards was our teacher and Georgia Hoff joined us. Miss Blust was our sixth grade teacher and gave us the "finishing touches" for our famous jump to the high school building.

The eventful day in 1942 found us in the high school building with the days of recesses in the past. We were pretty big shots now changing classes, having the front seats in assemblies, using the library, and forcing the school to order a new supply of detention hall slips. Vera Flanagan joined us this year. Miss Odiorne was our home room teacher. Mrs. Lindecamp was our eighth grade home room teacher and Lewis Aukerman, Tom Leatherman, Roger Ripley, Merle McDaniel, and Jeannine Ziegler entered the class.

The next year we were Freshmen and the mighty Lafayette students Don Burkey, Bette Haller, Vanda Mann, and Gloria Lutsch joined the famous class of '48. Frank Clover also joined us that year. Mrs. Lindecamp was again our home room teacher.

Eylaine Pickering joined us during our Sophomore year and this was the year that we ordered our class rings. Miss Clinker was our homeroom teacher.

The day of October 6, 1946 was a very exciting one for the class, for it was on this day that our class rings arrived. We finally got over all the excitement and settled down to work on our class play. Our play "Dait Bait" was a great success. Bill Burnett joined us this year. Mr. Dowler was our homeroom teacher.

Finally the day had come — we were Seniors. We had added Floris Snider to our class roll, making twenty-seven of us dignified Seniors. That bright day in September of 1936 seemed like only yesterday; those twelve years really flew. Miss Sechrist was our homeroom teacher.

We have had many happy years in L. H. S. and are sorry we have to go. It was nice while it lasted. But it's ended — so now "good-bye."

- Article 3 To the Juniors we leave our Government books, all five of them, in a better condition than we found them.
- Article 4 To the Sophomores we leave our ability to laugh at Mr. Wood's jokes, as he will probably be telling those same jokes when they get to be Seniors.

- Article 3 Furman Bowers would like to will his ability to write poetry to Junior Mathys and hopes that it doesn't get him into any trouble.

- Article 5 Bill Burnett wills his ability to get dates with Shirley Reed to Bob Viergutz. (May Bob do a little better than Bill did.)
- Article 6 Virginia Clouse leaves her ability to change Miss Webb's mind to anyone who can use it.
- Article 7 Frank Clover wills his ability to play the drums to Prem Sampsel and his blushing ability to Miss Webb.
- Article 8 Vera Flanagan leaves her ability to beat the bass drum to Pat Laidley so she can make as much noise on it as Vera did.

- Article 10 Georgia Hoff wills her quiet ways in school to Rytta Derhammer and her ability to make milkshakes to Eva Indoe.

- Article 12 Delores Horner leaves her Homecoming Queen Crown to next year's leading candidate.
- Article 13 Eloise House wills her love for Physics to Betty McGarvey and her ability to walk to school in one minute to anyone who lives out at the west end of Bank Street.

- Article 18 Gloria Lutsch leaves her seat on the bus to Dale Sanford and her love for Business Law to Betty Young.
- Article 19 Vanda Mann wills her ability to talk Mr. Skurvid out of ideas to anyone who thinks he can handle him as well as she did.
- Article 20 Bill Manke leaves his ability to come to school with a necktie on every day to Gordon Warnes. (Be sure it's straight, Gordon.)
- Article 21 Eylaine Pickering wills her ability to walk so far to school and get there on time to anyone who feels that he cannot afford a taxi.
- Article 22 Roger Ripley leaves his seldom used football suit to Bob Underwood and hopes he will get more use out of it than Roger did.
- Article 23 Floris Snider wills her way with truck drivers to anyone who works out at Mom's in the future.
- Article 24 Bob Strouse leaves his ability to sleep in school to anyone who can do as good a job of sleeping as Bob did.
- Article 25 Bob Vandemark wills his ability to keep girls out so late at night to Junior Dague. (Junior seems to be another one of these "night owls.")
- Article 26 Jack Warner leaves his driving skill to Ramon Weaver. (It seems that Ramon doesn't know that a Buick is heavier than a Ford.)
- Article 27 Jeannine Ziegler wills her ability to run errands for Mr. Wood in Government class to any ambitious Junior.

The class of 1949, this year's Junior Class, in carrying on the traditions of former Juniors, have shown themselves equal to and deserving of, the title of Seniors.

The Juniors have proven themselves to be an ambitious lot in their untiring efforts, under the leadership of Mr. Egger, to fill their class treasury. They conducted the sale of candy, pop, hotdogs, etc., at the basketball and football games, managed a stand at the Lodi Fall Fair and did many other worthwhile tasks.

The Junior Class play "Professor, How Could You?" was presented on December 20. This skillfully rendered production was under the very capable direction of Mrs. Marjorie McEnroe.

The Juniors were represented in nearly every high school activity. Congratulations, Juniors, for all your splendid work and good luck from the retiring Senior Class.

The Dramatic Club, which is one of the most active organizations in the school, has thirty-six members this year. Regular business meetings, with refreshments as an added attraction, are held once a month in the evening.

As well as presenting plays of their own, the club journeyed to other towns to see productions of the Dramatic Clubs of other schools and colleges.

The initiation for the new members was held in September and all the new members were very glad when it was over. In December the club presented its annual Christmas Play at the school.

The major project of the year in which all co-operated was the production of "Double Door." It was the first mystery presented at Lodi in recent years, and it was a great success. Diane James, Harold McGrady, Vera Flanagan, Gordon Warnes, Betty McGarvey, Pat Arnold, Frank Clover, Boyd Lance, Bill Bittner, Ralph Tanner, Jackie Duck, and Bill Manke were the members of the cast and the rest of the members assisted with the stage, advertising, ticket selling, ushering, and the other tasks that go into the producing of a good play.

The purpose of the club is to promote a better understanding of how to write newspaper articles and editorials, and to give school news to the public. Each member by the end of the year, should have written ten articles before he can receive $\frac{1}{3}$ of a credit. These articles are printed each week in the school's section of the Lodi Review, "Hilltop Echoes." It is the duty of each member to make "Hilltop Echoes" good reading material for everyone.
